

What are Pooled Resources?

Pooled Resources are groups of resources that can be booked a pre-specified number of times. A typical example of a pool could be a group of desks or parking spaces.

When you book a desk in a pooled resource, you know that you are booking a desk at a specific location. When your booking starts, you simply choose one of the free desks in the specified pool.

Booking permissions also works for Pooled Resources. For example, a certain group can be given the rights to book in a certain pool while others can be excluded.

Flexibility in the Set-up Process and Management

Pooled Resources are easier to set up and manage in Resource Central and Exchange / Office 365 as each Pooled Resource has only one calendar, opposed to each resource having its own calendar.
